MEDICINAL.

"I'm Ashamed"

To go anywhere with my face in this condition, is the expression of a very natural feeling. To a beautiful woman an eruption on the face is the greatest of calamities, her very beauty seeming to increase the disfigurement. Ninety-eight times in every hundred, eruptions are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and the skin recovers its maiden bloom and softness. "Golden Medical Discovery" is a medicine which acts directly on the blood, purifying it, increasing its quantity and its richness. Eruptions, blotches, pimples, etc., are but surface signs of the corrupt blood current underneath. "Discovery" cleanses the blood, and so cleanses the skin.

"For about one year and a half my face was very badly broken out," writes Miss Carrie Adams, of 125 West Main St., Battle Creek, Mich. "I spent a great deal of money with doctors and for different kinds of medicine, but received no benefit. At last I read one of your advertisements, and obtained a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken one bottle of this medicine I noticed a change, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels in healthy condition.

SOUTHERNER DEFENDS A WOMAN.

Detectives Devaney and Farrell, of the west Thirtieth street station, saw a man talking to a woman at Twenty-eighth street and Sixth avenue, and, thinking to protect him, they told him what kind of a woman he was talking to. He resented it, and told the detectives that he was a southerner and that no woman could be insulted with impunity while he was at hand. He finally became so abusive that the detectives placed both him and the woman under arrest, and they were locked up in the west Thirtieth street station, where he gave his name as William Smith, a travelling salesman of Baltimore.

He was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court Saturday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. In reply to a remark of the magistrate he said: "Why, Judge, I was never so outrageously treated in my life. In Baltimore it is a man's privilege to walk or stand on the street at any hour of the day or night, and talk to whom he pleases, and no fat lobster will come up and insult you or your companion. This man, whom I have since learned is an officer, applied an epithet to this woman that I would not have applied to a dog, and I resented it, as any southerner would."

The magistrate told the man that the officer was merely trying to do him a favor, but he said that he wanted no favors at the hands of a man who would address a woman as Devaney had done. He added that he could read himself perfectly able to take care of himself.

Presently he caught the unmistakable southern accent of Magistrate Mayo, and suddenly asked the magistrate his name, and he replied that it was Mayo.

"Mayo, Mayo," said the man, "why, that is a Virginia name. Aren't you from Virginia? That is a Virginia name."

The magistrate admitted that he had once lived in that State, and Smith appealed to the southern training of the magistrate and asked him if he would not have acted in the same manner under like circumstances. The magistrate would not admit this, but he disclosed both Mr. Smith and the woman. The woman, by the way, had seemed very much amused by Mr. Smith's earnest defence of her.—[N. Y. Tribune.]

HURLED FROM A TRESTLE.—

Shooting Saturday night on an excursion train from Sparta, N. C., to Charlotte, N. C., resulted in the death of two men and the probable fatal wounding of a third. At about midnight just as the train was approaching Thickety, S. C., a half-breed negro named Haines caused alarm by flourishing a pistol in one of the cars reserved for whites. Dexter Kirby, an electrician, of Sparta, N. C., who was acting as special policeman aboard the train, sought to quiet the man. He went towards Haines and asked him to put up his pistol. This the negro refused to do, saying he would shoot if Kirby came nearer. Kirby continued to advance and Haines began firing. The first ball struck Kirby in the breast and penetrated the heart. He died at once. Haines continued shooting until his pistol was empty. The third bullet struck W. W. Steadman on the arm and lodged in his body. As soon as Kirby's friends realized that their companion was dead they laid violent hands on the negro, and would have killed him aboard the train had it not been that a more horrible death was planned. Just at that time the train was crossing what is known as Thickety trestle. It is at least ninety feet high. The negro was taken to the platform and hurled head foremost into space. His body was found yesterday afternoon by a searching party lying in the grass below the trestle.
